Phone: —

Brand/Model: Gpu Asus (df)

SN/imei: —

Equipment: Cat

Device appearance: —

Problems: Won't turn on

The cost of diagnosis: 2000 RUB

Approximate date when the diagnosis is ready: 16.01.26 17:47

1. The device is accepted to the workshop for diagnosis / repair to determine the approximate time, cost and possibility of repairing the malfunction claimed by the customer.

2. When diagnosing or repairing the device, it must be opened, which entails the loss of the factory warranty. Please take this into account and independently verify the availability of a manufacturer's warranty.

3. The customer assumes the risk of a possible complete or partial loss of operability of the device during repair, in case of gross violations of operating conditions by the user, the presence of traces of a conductive liquid (corrosion), or mechanical damage.

4. Storage conditions for client devices: The maximum warranty or paid repair period is 45 days. The repair period can be extended if there are no spare parts. 2. From the moment the customer is notified of the readiness or inability to repair, the Customer undertakes to pick up the product within 30 calendar days. After the expiration of the 30-day free storage period, the Contractor will charge a fee of 100 rubles per day for further storage. 3. The Parties agreed that if the Client fails to fulfill his obligation to pick up the product from repair, after two months from the date of the start of paid storage, the equipment becomes unclaimed by the Client. The Client thereby waives his right to this equipment, and the Contractor has the right to sell this property in compensation for damages for the repair and storage of the product.

5. The device is issued upon presentation of an "Admission receipt". In case of loss of the receipt, the device can be issued upon presentation of an identity document addressed to the customer.

The Customer has read and agrees to the above conditions and the processing of personal data specified in this receipt, and is responsible for their accuracy. The customer confirms that he is the legal owner of the device.
